Dear Sir: Allow me to protest against the above complaint, on the ground that I am not aware of anything but a successful administration. And I hope the citizens of Brooklyn will use discretion before signing any such document. They must take in consideration that a just Commissioner is liable to appear severe.

disposing of his property pending the decision of the present suit. It is understood that the suit begun to-day is but the beginning of other suits that will be begun by Mrs. Keane, among them being a suit for separation. Mr. Keane was formerly a well-known real estate and wholesale liquor dealer in this city, and his operations in stocks in Wall street were heavy enough two or three years ago to attract the attention of the entire street. He is reputed to have made a large sum of money out of his Wall street operations, and is now said to be worth upwards of a million dollars. Recently Mr. Keane has made his home in Stamford, Conn. where he has a handsome country residence.

Mr. Keane by about sixty years old, and his charming young wife, who is but about twenty-five years old, is his third wife. Among the charges that will be made by Mrs. Keane in her suit for separa-tion, it is said, will be that her husband has deserted her no less than seven tion, it is said, will be that her husband has deserted her no less than seven times.

In her complaint for the setting aside of the little to the property mentioned, Mrs. Keane alleges that she was privately married to Mr. Keane on April 23, 1889, at the Chuch of the Holy Angels, by the Rev. Father Hugh Kelly.

Mrs. Keane alleges that prior to her marriage to Mr. Keane he had been married to a Miss Mary Cornell, who owned a large amount of real estate in this city. Mrs. Keane, the second, died on Oct. 21, 1887, leaving a large amount of property to her husband and also other property to her sister, which was to revert to Mr. Keane upon the death of his deceased wife's sister.

Mrs. Keane alleges that a short time prior to Aug. 25, 1881, that Keane, who had prior to that time deserted her and had been living separate, induced her to sign a transfer of her interests in the Fifty-third street real estate.

At that time rMrs. Keane alleges her husband said he was tired of living apart from her, and that if she would sign the deeds he would provide for her a handsome and suitable residence in this city, in a neighborhood that would have the title put absolutely in her name.

William Mooney, detective in the Twenty eighth Precinct, or steamisat squad, testified that while he was serving in the Eleventh Precinct he had charge of the "Robbery Book," which was the record of all the nightly robberles committed in the Howery, and it was his duty to specially investigate each case. Burns had charge of the excise book, a list of the 50 licensed drinking places in the precinct, with data for guidance as to the habits of the licensed and the like.

They had these things to look after, besides the duty of investigating and proceeding against the sixty-odd disorderly houses in the precinct.

Mooney also denied that these houses were running in the flagrant manner charged.

Patrolman John P. The Grand Jury Fails to Find an Indictment Against Him.

The Grand Jury has decided not to return an indictment against ex-Policeman Robert Higginbotham.

They take the ground that the Carpenter brothers could not positively identify him as the man to whom they paid the money.

Higginbotham was arrested last Thursday at his home, 892 Washington avenue, on a warrant issued by Judge Fitgerald, in General Sessions, on affigurable, in General Sessions, on affigurable, in General Sessions, on affigurable has been going on for weeks.

BASEBALL CHAT.

BASEBALL CHAT.

As they say on the race track, a bianket would now cover the leaders in the race for the pennant. The Bostons are still in the van, with the Baltimores only seven points behind and the New Yorks nine points in the rear of the Orloics. Through the clever playing of the St. Louis team yesterday the leaders were beautifully whipped, and they were pushed back uncomfortably close to Baltimore and New York. Very ofter the tail-end teams have an annoying habit of turning to and giving the leaders a merry walloping. Under the circumstances such as prevail just now, these things upset the nicest calculations and add to the excitement and interest of the game. Any little thing that St. Louis may do to the Bostons to haul them etill. The Republican Caucus Leads to an add to the excitement and interest of the add to the excitement and interest of the game. Any little thing that St. Louis may do to the Bostons to haul them still further away from the lead, of course, would be gratefully appreciated by Baltimore and New York. The Glants make a close study every afternoon during their games of the big score-board which tailies the progress of contests in other cities, and the Baltimore and Boston games are particularly scrutinized. Tebeau's "Tartars" were disposed of without much trouble yesterday, and that is an advantage which will aid them materially in running away with the next two games.

When Oliver W. Tebeau, yelept "Pat-sy," made his third strike out yester-day great ringlets of blue, sulphurous vapor enveloped his cranium. Oh! no, he wasn't a bit mad.

That little blaze in the reporters' box yesierday is a warning to smokers to be extremely careful where they drop their lighted stubs. Memories of the burning of the grand stands in Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia are still very fresh in the minds of the patrons of the game.

The management of the New Yorks has at last yielded a triffe to the sug-

Mr. Bowers came down into the well and said excitedly: "We propose to be treated fairly in this matter. All committees were ordered to report by a sertain date, and there is no reason why they should not immediately report."

Mr. Cochran moved that the Committee on Judiciary be ordered to report forthwith a decision as to whether the Convention would adjourn on Sept. 18.

A number of Republicans voted with the Democrats, and the motion was carried.

Then Mr. Bowers moved that the Com. The management of the New Yorks has at last yielded a trifle to the suggestion of "The Evening World" in the matter of starting the game earlier than 4 o'clock, and to-day's game begins at 3.45. Thanks, Messrs. Talcott and Ward. Pretty soon it will be obligatory to start the games at 3.30, and then more thanks.

Springfield and Wilkesbarre played 16 innings at Springfield yesterday, and the game ended in a tie of 7 to 7.

To-morrow will be ladies day at Eastern Park, and President Byrne offers a fine attraction in the shape of two games with Pittsburg for one admission.

Then Mr. Bowers moved that the Governor and State Officers Committee report forthwith. This was lost by a strictly party vote.

Mr. Roche kept up the fight by calling attention to the fact that, unlike the conventions of 1857 and 1846, the canal question was being entirely ignored.

He moved to make the question a special order. Mr. Kellogg moved to lay the motion on the table and called for the yeas and nays. Nearly all of the Republican members along the canal, except Mr. McMilian and Mr. Becker, voted with Mr. Roche to aid the canal question. The motion to lay on the table was carried, thus killing Mr. Roche's motion.

There was an attempt on the part of Mr. Springweiler to get his amendment in regard to employers' liability out of general orders and make it a special order, but he was not successful, although several Republicans voted with the thirty-five Democrats.

The convention had started to go into committee of the whole on the citles article when Mr. Becker said in a loud lone of vulce: "I would like to offer a report before the convention goes in a few hole.

You read The Evening World! Do you read the Sunday World!

The little one sat in the carriage, laughing at the crowd, and seemed to understand that it was the object of admiration.

A number of women stopped to pat the little one's fat cheeks and feel its fleshy grams, which were bare from the shoulders down. The seem on its neek and spins lay in deep wrinkles.

"Its name is Gussle, continued the mother. Than sees proud of it. She is in first-class health, and the doctors say is sound in every way.

Mayor Schieren said be could not kive a permit to exhibit the bale until the parents had obtained the consent of the Children's Society.

As the parents pushed the carriage containing the baby up Fulton street a great crowd followed.

The father of the child weighs 140 pounds and the mother 110 pounds.
